No matter which country, which gender, which culture it is, nursing is a remarkable, respect and noble profession. The nurse is a person, who looks after patients at Hospitals, Nursing homes and Aged care facilities.

In the history, nursing had very basic, preliminary and gentle routine. However, year by year its demand and technology is being escalating. There are many opportunities for the Nurses in health care sector in these days. Therefore, however, nursing is a highly demand and respective subject at universities as well as other institutions all around the world.

Nursing is a profession, which contains caring, health and illness, which are to be studied and to be practiced by every nurse. This is the basic realm of the nursing procedure. For instance, If a nurse looks after a client with great deal of attention, and, if nurse has a great deal of ability to hear clients humours and observations, that is called as caring. Otherwise, nurses are not able to care a resident any longer. In my opinion, I assume, as a nurse we have to be able to involve with our clients, whenever they need our help.

On the other hand, as I know, if a client's physical and emotional functions are diminishing, it is the illness. Health is a person's previous experience; therefore, illness is completely different from the health. Health is not involved with illness or disability; it is the consistency of physical and psychological well being in order to maintain internal and external environmental procedures.

Interestingly, I love to work with people who are in hospitals and other health care sectors. When I was a child I had an ambition to be a doctor one day, so I think this is the way to get there, because nursing has enormous ways to link any health care professional. I chose Australia as a good country to do nursing before I started the course. I thought the nurse is the doctor's helper before I started my studies; hence, it is not the reality in it. Nursing has a complicated scope than it appears. Actually, nurse is not the doctor's helper; nurse is the doctor's coordinator.

In Australia, there are many regulations and conditions to be observed prior to go to the nursing profession. I never had an idea about it before I started my course; I thought when ever we finished our studies, we could easily work in hospitals. However, situation is really different in Australia, we have to follow regulations and conditions and also we must register under QNC every year. Not only that, but also we are administered to study health and safety policies and other studies relevant to the nursing. Conversely, therefore, once I studied nursing in Australia like this type of scope, I can be a prominent person in our society in no time.

In my carrier, I will follow these regulations and conditions and I hope to do my best to be a well-known nurse as well as a good person. However, in general, this is the time of period, which the nursing invading all health care sectors. Nursing is great science as well as an art; it makes people good and prominent and nursing evolution in this millennium is not far away.

There are such regulations and policies are to be followed by EEN's before they start their practice in Queensland. There is a specific criterion of registering body of Queensland and there is a scope of practice for EEN's that have being introduced by Queensland nursing council.
